

SUMMARY OF DAY 4 IN DOMINICA

Our four-day stay in Dominica got off to a late start because the hike to the village of La Petite Soufrière had worn us out. Breakfast was scheduled for 9:30 a.m. The breakfast was delicious. Then, while waiting for our departure around 11 a.m., we went to watch Auriane, a 2-year-old child, hold on to the zip line to cross the river. Then we got ready to harvest Dasheenleaves and go crab fishing for dinner.

Kenny started by explaining what kinds of leaves we needed to cut and how to cut them. Harvesting the dasheen leaves went very quickly, and we were very efficient.

The rest of the adventure was more complicated. We had to walk upstream, keeping a sharp eye out for crabs. In the end, we caught two crabs as we made our way up the river. To wrap up the fishing trip, Kenny took us to a waterfall. It was his little surprise. Finally, Kenny suggested we go see another one located 15 minutes from the first for the most motivated while the others headed back with Sharah. On the way back, we went for a swim in a small pool in the river. On the way back, we found a crab.

When we arrived, we ate and rested until 5:00 p.m. for some and 5:30 p.m. for others.

It was time to prepare the meal; today is rice and kalalou. we started by washing and cutting the madère leaves into small pieces, then a few groups formed; Margot was in the kitchen, Ignola and Ludovic were cleaning the crabs (Kenny's friend brought us some more), and Émilie, Sytan, Kémi, as well as Ms. Prigent and Ms. Finel, continued working on the Dasheen leaves.

Once we finished preparing dinner, Kenny gave a little speech, and then we served ourselves. Everyone to the table! We had a delicious meal. The day wasn't over yet after dinner; we got organized to clear the table, and took turns doing the dishes. Finally, the day came to an end. We went to bed, although some stayed up to play.

